HISTORICAL NOTE: The J. M. Molina Investment Company was founded in 1924 by Jose Maria Molina. Jose had been a cattle rancher and the president of the Yuma National Bank before his retirement in 1911. In 1917 Jose moved to San Diego, California leaving his sons Gus and Conrad to manage his properties in Yuma. After creating the investment company, Jose transferred the ownership of his properties in Arizona and California to the company. The company remained a family business with Conrad Molina taking over as president of the company until his death in 1963. After Conrad, Dr. Julius Molina became the president of the company. The company declared bankruptcy in 1984, and was finally revoked in 1987. Over the course of its existence, the J. M. Molina Investment Company was heavily involved in the development of a large amount of land in Yuma, including Marsh Field and several blocks of Main Street.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE: This collection contains business records from the J. M. Molina Investment Company. The bulk of the material consists of notes and property leasing agreements. There are also several folders of financial papers including checks, bills, and tax records.

The collection is organized in four series.

Series I – Personal Financial Records: This series has documents concerning individual's finances rather than the company's financial records.

Series II – Property Files: This series contains information about various properties that were owned by the company, including notes about property taken by the city of Yuma for building public works such as highways and levees.

Series III – Client Files: This series contains documents and notes pertaining to individuals associated with the company, including people leasing land from the company as well as realtors, and people that leased their land to the company.

Series IV – Business Records: Includes a wide range of company files such as financial papers, correspondence, meeting minutes, and deeds.
